

Written by Bonsai King

Wednesday, 16 December 2009 16:09 - Last Updated Tuesday, 05 January 2010 11:53

Local Name:

Santan, Jungle Flame, Needle Flower, West Indian Jasmine, rangan, kheme, ponna, chann tanea, techi

Scientific Name:

Ixora Chinensis

Family:

Rubiaceae,

Coffee family

Habitat

tropical south-east asia,southern India and Sri Lanka. It has also become a popular flower in South F

Propagation

Ixora

can be propagated by tip cuttings of both tender tips and semi-hardwood gro

Comments

There are about 400 species of Ixora of which the majority are endemic in India, China and Malaysia. To

An annual pruning is usually best to keep your flowering. Try to avoid repeatedly shearing off the tips o